MORGAN JURORS ACQUIT YOUTH IN MAGOFFIN COURT

A Morgan county jury deliberated 90 minutes at Salyersville last Saturday and returned a verdict of acquittal for John Wesley Mann, 19, charged with the killing of his father, the former Magoffin County Attorney Arnett Mann, in 1969.

More than 100 citizens were summoned from Morgan to serve as prospective jurors. Selection of a jury was completed at noon Thursday and 11 men and one woman were seated to hear the case.

The 19-year-old defendant admitted firing the shot that killed his father, but said he thought the pistol was not loaded and said he pointed it with intention of only scaring his father, who he said was holding his mother with one hand and drawing back to hit her with the other during an argument. Both his sisters corroborated the defendant's version.

Marcus Mann, present county attorney and brother of the slain man, helped prosecute the case. Judge Dan Ward of Hazard in his instructions listed the possibility of a not guilty verdict on the basis of accidental shooting or "self defense or the defense of his mother."

The slain man's wife had been charged along with the son in the death, but she was acquitted at the last term of court.

What Past Governors Of Kentucky Say About "Windy" Wendell Ford

WHAT BERT COMBS SAYS ABOUT "WINDY" WENDELL

FORD HAS BEEN the most expensive lieutenant gov. in the history of the Commonwealth, Combs charged, saying Mr. Ford spent $400 of taxpayer money for a tablecloth in the lieutenant governor's mansion.

Combs said Ford workers used the "big lie technique" involving repeated false charges against Combs concerning his tax plan.

Combs called Ford a "scissors and paste job put together by the Man from Mississippi (J. R. Miller) and speech writers who draw their pay from the state of Kentucky." (Combs didn't identify the speech writers.)

"I don't think Wendell's seen the light," he's just felt the heat," Combs said in charging Ford changed his stand on a coal severance tax, on having an environmental commission and on raising teacher salaries.

"The lieutenant governor turned a deaf ear to Kentucky teachers when they came to Frankfort during the 1970 Assembly," Combs said.

Combs, through his campaign manager Robert Matthews, charged Ford with using state vehicles, state personnel and state equipment in the primary campaign.

Central Kentucky audiences were reminded by Combs that it was Ford who cast the deciding vote which resulted in Daylight Saving Time for Kentucky from the end of April to the end of October.

STACY FORK MAN JAILED HERE ON CHARGE OF RAPE

Junior Lee Barker, 26, of Stacy Fork surrendered to Morgan County Sheriff James Brooks last Thursday and was formally charged Friday with the rape of his nine-year-old step-daughter.

State Police Detective Alonzo Hensley said the rape was allegedly committed sometime Monday, Oct. 4. The girl was released from St. Claire Medical Center, Morehead, on Saturday after being listed in satisfactory condition.

According to Detective Hensley, Barker also has been charged with possession of stolen dynamite, a federal offense.

State Trooper Ken Burton and Sheriff Brooks found two and one-half cases of dynamite in Barker's basement when they went to Barker's home to serve a warrant for his arrest on Wednesday of last week.

The officers notified U. S. Treasury ATF officials who obtained a federal warrant charging Barker with possession of stolen dynamite.

Detective Hensley said the dynamite is believed to have been stolen from the Titus Frederick Construction Co. sometime last month.

Barker is being held in the Morgan County Jail where bond has been denied by County Judge Gene Allen.

MORGAN SHARPSHOOTERS HELP KENTUCKY TEAM WIN SHOOT-OUT

Maxey High Scorer As Long Rifles Win Flintlock Match

Morgan County sharpshooters, Rex Maxey and Waldo Lacy, members of the Corp of Kentucky Long Rifles, helped the Kentucky flintlock rifle team shoot its way to a close victory over teams from Tennessee and Indiana at the 24th annual Daniel Boone Festival at Barboursville Oct. 8, 9, and 10.

The Kentucky flintlock team chalked up 1812 points, with Maxey's Rex Maxey leading the way with 189 points, including five bullseyes. Maxey of West Liberty was top shooter in the tournament and is overall high scorer for the Long Rifles this year in competition matches.

An estimated 20,000 persons filled the streets of the Knox County seat for the weekend festival.

The Kentucky team, competing for the first time at the festival, the Kentucky team has won all but one match — it went to Tennessee a few years ago.

And both Maxey and Lacy have participated in every match, always posting high scores with rifles handcrafted by Maxey, who not only is an excellent marksman but an outstanding gunsmith. And Lacy, incidentally, is the oldest member of the team.

A passing truck driver discovered the blaze and helped save the washer and deep freeze, but he said the ceiling commenced falling in soon after he got to the burning home. None of the children were injured.

Mr. Edwards is disabled, and a call went out for help from neighbors. The family is now living in Hazel Green in a house of Grant Rose back of Lockard's Grocery. They have received numerous articles, but still need sheets, blankets, etc. Anyone wishing to donate to the stricken family may call George Finch at 662-4986.

Making souvenir cookbooks to be sold at the upcoming Morgan County Sorghum Festival, these ladies are collating the 170-page book in preparation for binding. They are one shift of a 20-member work force of Woman's Club members who have donated their time to type, print, and bind the cookbooks which are to be sold as a fund-raising project for the club. From left are Pam Walter, Dorothy Perry, Barbara Perry (seated), Phyllis Hamilton, and Bette Bellamy. The cookbook pages on table in foreground number close to 85,000 individual sheets, which will make a total of 500 cookbooks. However, only 300 will be sold at the festival.

WOMAN'S CLUB WILL SELL SORGHUM COOK BOOKS AT FESTIVAL OCT. 22-23

Grandma knew that a good remedy for "summer complaint" was "Blackberry Root Cordial," a concoction that, if it didn't cure you, would make you feel better anyhow since it contained a sizeable amount of grain alcohol per quart. It also contained a fourth of a cup of sorghum, and thus, is one of several home remedies made with sorghum that is included in the Morgan County Woman's Club Sorghum Cookbook to be sold as useful souvenir items at the Morgan County Sorghum Festival Oct. 22-23.

More than 15 club members have worked in shifts the past three weeks on nearly a round-the-clock basis, typing, making line drawings, cutting paper, printing pages, collating, and binding some 300 of the recipe books, each of which contains more than 170 pages.

The attractive books, bound in cardboard covers featuring a silk screen design made by Morgan County High School Art Teacher Wendell Sherman and sewn by the ladies onto red or green burlap bindings, feature recipes for making sorghum cookies, breads, candies, cakes, and pies, plus several recipes for old home remedies calling for sorghum as part of the mixins.

Recipes, submitted by clubwomen, are listed in the contents of the book under the following headings: breads, breakfast foods and beverages, cakes, gingerbreads, candy, cookies, frostings and sauces, fruits and vegetables, meat dishes and sauces, pies, puddings, and home remedies. Each recipe is signed by the woman who submitted it.

Hundreds of hours have been employed by the ladies in preparing the cookbook, and work continues this week by the ladies who plan to sell the completed books at the Sorghum Festival as a money-raising project.

Reports from friends who have seen some of the finished books indicate that not only are they attractive souvenir items, they will make handy and useful additions to any housewife's recipe shelf.

And the books are completely hand-made with original illustrations hand-drawn by Woman's Club members. Among those who have donated hours of labor on the project are—

GOP Speaker Raps Ford In Morgan Talk

Lawrence Hall, candidate for State Senator, appearing in Morgan County Tuesday night as part of the 120 County "Emberton-Host Victory Squad," said that Wendell Ford was clobbered with the truth Sunday night in a statewide television debate.

He said that Tom Emberton "laid it on the line" and hit Ford with the real truth about Ford's lack of leadership; Ford's role in imposing the first 3 cent sales tax; his role in placing other tax burdens on the people of Kentucky and several instances of conflict of interest on Ford's part as State Senator and as Lieutenant Governor.

"The people of Kentucky are still waiting for Ford to fully disclose the sources of his income over the past ten years," he said. "Ford tried to fool the people Sunday by passing out a copy of an income summary prepared by Ford's own accountant. What the people want to see are copies of Ford's income tax returns since 1960, Tom Emberton and Jim Host have made their returns public — now it's time for Ford to produce his."

"The people are entitled to know how much Ford has made while selling insurance on state highway contracts. The people are entitled to know how much Ford has made from his banking interest. The people are entitled to know how much Ford has made from his real estate business. The people are entitled to know what other business interests Ford has and who else gives Wendell Ford money," he said.

"The 'Victory Squad' speaker also hit at Ford's meeting with coal operators and strip miners in Wise, Virginia. 'Wise, Virginia will be Wendell's Waterloo,' he said. 'The people of Kentucky do not want to be dealt out at any secret meetings across state lines.'"

The speaker called for opposition to Ford's proposed school plan that would create a statewide school district and bring about the abolishment of local school districts and local school boards. "Ford's plan would cost the average family of four over $54.69 in additional property taxes each year," he said.

The "Victory Squad" representative questioned "Ford's obvious conflicts of interest."

The Constitution of the State of Kentucky (Section 57) clearly states that any member of our General Assembly who has a conflict of interest must publicly disclose that conflict and refrain from voting or taking part in any legislation that bears on the subject of his interest while it is before the Legislature. The failure to do so has a penalty of expulsion," he pointed out.

"Ford has finally admitted to being a partner in an Owensboro insurance firm and to being a Director in the Hancock Bank and Trust Company. Yet, despite his banking and insurance interests, Ford led the fight to put higher interest rates on you in 1970 and stood by and let higher rates pass in 1966. Higher interest rates are every bit as bad as higher taxes," he noted.

"It's no wonder in light of some of his financial holdings that Ford worked to lower the rate of taxes on bank stock, yet proposed raising the people's taxes by removing the federal deductibility from your state income tax," he said.

He added, "Tom Emberton and Jim Host had taken the leadership and the initiative throughout this campaign. Wendell and his crowd have spent most of their time following the lead of Tom and Jim."

Ford made a big thing out of "talking about" a special session of the Legislature," he noted, but when the chips were down and Wendell was acting Governor, "he refused to call the session himself to remove the tax from food. It's the same old Ford... a lot of talk, but no action."

Ford tries to pass himself off as a "tax cutter." "The only taxes Ford ever cut were those on whiskey and bank stocks," he said.

The "Victory Squad" speaker told his audience, "When you see a little child standing by the side of the road before daylight one of these cold mornings waiting for a school bus, just remember that, thanks to Wendell Ford's tie breaking vote on the fast time issue, we now have six months of fast time in Kentucky."

DEVILS SCORE 28 PTS. AGAINST ROWAN COUNTY

Coach Ed Zarembo's Morgan County High Blue Devils lost by a one-sided score to the Rowan County Vikings last Friday at Morehead. But surprisingly, the Devils put more points on the board against the highly-vaunted Vikings than during any of their other six previous games.

The score was 58-28, but the Vikings' high tally was partly the result of gambling by the Devils on offense as they played catch-up football, and was not the fault of the defensive line.

Devil TD's were by—Johnny Tate, who plunged over the 1-yard line after a drive from kickoff that carried to the 10 and Greg Phillips tossed to Jeff Brown at the 1-yard line to set up the score.

End Jeff Brown, who snagged passes from Phillips for two TD's and a two-point conversion. Greg Phillips, who scrambled around end for the TD on a broken pass play.

Outstanding defensive performances were turned in by Manuel Phipps, Johnny Tate, Jeff Johnson, and Gary Dye. The Blue Devils will meet Maysville Friday evening at home. Game time is 8 p.m.

Earl Bradley, left, of Fairborn, Ohio, is shown receiving the "Driver of the Year" Award presented recently by the Ohio Motor Bus Association at its safety awards luncheon in Columbus, Ohio. The annual award is given to the bus driver who, through his safe driving, acts of bravery, and civic mindedness, best represents the industry on and off the highway. Bradley, a Morgan native, has logged more than 1,197,000 accident-free miles behind the wheel of a bus. Maj. H. F. Stehmyer, right, Ohio Highway Patrol, said Bradley's record is even more outstanding when it is considered that buses are required to maintain schedules and operate in the worst of weather. Bradley is son of Mrs. A. C. Bradley of Route 3 West Liberty and the late Rev. Bradley.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to express my thanks and appreciation for the beautiful cards, flowers and for the many prayers spoken in my behalf at all the churches while I was a patient in the Central Baptist Hospital. And a thank you to everyone who helped in any way.

—Mrs. Bert May

How much will your taxes be in 1974?

In 1967 under a Democratic Governor license plates cost $5.00

After 1967, under a Republican Governor, license plates cost $12.50

After a pledge of no new taxes, the Republicans added a five cents sales tax and more than doubled your vehicle license fees. What can you expect if they get in again?

Wendell Ford has always been on the side of the taxpayer. He voted to get the tax removed from prescription medicine and farm implements. He opposed the Republicans' increase in the sales tax on food. Wendell Ford knows that a spending and taxing type of government is a harsh and cruel enemy of the wage earner, the hard-worker, the family man. Join the taxpayer's revolt and support Wendell Ford.

Isn't it time the people had a Governor?

Mrs. Goering Gives Coaltion Map To The Kennedy Library

An exact duplicate of the Coaltion Map of Kentucky and Tennessee, size 15x28 inches, was presented to the Kennedy Memorial Library of West Liberty last week by Mrs. A. P. L. Goering of Ontario, Canada.

The original Coaltion Map, published by G. W. Coaltion & Co. of New York in 1873, was sent to Mrs. Goering's father-in-law, John W. Goering of Hamilton, Ontario by Col. John Tom Hazellrigg of Morgan County about 1873 or 1874. Mr. Goering had purchased considerable mineral rights in Eastern Kentucky and Tennessee, and Col. Hazellrigg apparently was his agent in Morgan and surrounding counties. The map is one of the best available at that time and is minutely accurate in all details.

Mrs. Goering found the old map while going through some old papers of her late husband, and had it reproduced exact size. She also donated a copy of the map to Transylvania College in Lexington.

BUSINESS HERE AND HEREBABOUTS

BURLEY MARTS — The
burley tobacco marketing committee is due to meet this month to set the date for opening burley sales. Sales will be slower this year because of the added paper work in keeping track of pounds on quotas that have been grown on rented

RAILROAD LAY-OFFS —
The coal strike has caused railroads to lay off 1,110 employees in the Tri-State area, C & O Railway Monday laid off 850 workers, 400 at its Huntington car shops and 450 at its Race-land shops near Ashland. Next day N & W laid off 260 men in West Virginia, at Williamson and Bluefield.

WHOLESALE PRICES DROP — Wholesale prices registered their first drop last month in a 10-months period, and the sharpest decline in five years.
The seasonally adjusted drop of 0.4% was hailed in Washington as "showing tangible results" from the Aug. 15 freeze on prices, rents and salaries.
However, it was raw farm products that showed the sharpest price drop.

TITANIUM BOOM — Titanium,
the rare element reportedly found in the diamond mine area of eastern Elliott county, may come into great demand for use in making piston rings for the new Wankle rotary engine which General Motors is perfecting to power its cars when the Federal controls on auto exhaust go into effect in 1975. The one big flaw in the German-made Wankle was that the plates rining the engine's rotar were out quickly. GM engineers designed plates (piston rings) from an alloy of titanium and tungsten which solved the problem, and now GM has a fleet of its small cars powered by the Wankle motor running in Detroit on test. Titanium withstands heat up to 1700 degrees and presently is used almost solely in jet engines. Using it in auto engines will up the demand and also the price of titanium.

930 MILLION GALLONS —
The Oil and Gas Journal reports that Ashland Oil Co. increased its gasoline sales by 197 million gallons in 1970, a gain of 20.9%, the biggest of any American company. This big 1970 increase brought Ash-land's total sales to 930 million gallons. Total gasoline sales in the United States for 1970 were 89.7 billion gallons, a 4% increase over 1969's sales.

UNEMPLOYMENT DROPS —
The unemployment rate dropped one-tenth of a percent in September, and reached 6 percent of the nation's work force, the Labor Department announced last week.

LETTER FROM THE PAST

This is a letter found among personal papers of a man who had died at the age of 61 leaving a wife and three children.
It was in a sealed envelope. On the outside was written, please open a few days after my funeral. Many things in this letter reminds me of my cousin, Ova Carpenter, who passed away recently. I believe that if he could have written a farwell letter to his family. It would have read something like this.

No Sad Tears for Me. . .
Dear Loved Ones:
I hope by now that some of the initial shock of departure has begun to wear away — and that the kind carpet of pleasant memories has started to unroll.

I only ask one thing, no sad tears for me, please. Every wonderful, delightful thrill, experience and emotion life has to offer has been mine. So, no sad tears for me, please.

Rather recall me with a fond smile as the husband and father and friend who shared your laughter, tears and dreams through the years.

Save your sadness and sorrow for those who go before their time, for those who leave before they taste all the fine wines of the world.

No sad tears for me, please.
I lived a goodly span of years and enjoyed them all. I've seen a thousand sunsets and a few fresh dawns, walked in April rain, and watched an ocean roll.

I loved a woman. I was loved in return. I've cradled a daughter in my arms and walked with the hands of young sons in my own.

No sad tears for me, please.
Many victories were mine, and they gave life zest. I've had defects and they made me strong.
And when age came I was allowed to stand at the edge of the crowd and watch the young people dance. So no sad tears for me, please.

Life was good — I saw robins in the spring, watched a shooting star or two — enjoyed the snows of winter, walked under a harvest moon — and stood a time or two on top of a high hill and watched the flickering lights of a town.

No sad tears for me, please.
Think of the happy times: Christmas mornings — the grandsons, the graduations, the weddings, the Thanksgiving dinners, the carefree vacations along the sea shore. And, most of all, remember the thousands of times we were all together as a family. So, no sad tears
for me, please.

For no man dies as long as there is one person left in the living world who remembers him with fond recall, and shares a thought with him, though he has gone ahead.

Someday one of you may be looking at the blue of the Bay of Naples — the most beautiful blue in the world — and you might feel a sudden, soft warm breeze across your cheek — and you will know that I am there. . .

Or you might be standing on a mountain top, looking across the sweep of a great plain — and if there is a sudden, gentle stirring among the trees — feel I am sharing the moment with you.

On Christmas Eve, if there is a small star in the sky, look at it with love and let it come into your heart — and remember me.

A man really never dies while there are those on earth who loved him — A man is never gone as long as there are those who remember him with fondness. And as long as his memory evokes a wistful smile. All who have loved, and who have been loved, have earned a piece of immortality.
So, no sad tears for me, please.

Morehead Hospital Adds 39-Bed Section

MOREHEAD, KY. — A third floor wing with 39 patient beds was opened Monday as expanding St. Claire Medical Center rushed completion of its more than $3 million physical plant renovation.

With the opening of the 39 bed unit, the hospital closed the old part of the 3rd floor, containing 22 patient beds.
This part will be re-opened after renovation.

The old part of the second floor with 20 beds will remain in use until another wing of the new part is opened. This section will then be closed for renovation.

As of today the hospital has 59 operative patient beds.

The beds will number over 100 when the $3 million building project, which has been underway for two years, is completed.

Appalachia At Morehead Gets Another Grant

The Appalachia Adult Education Center at Morehead has received a federal grant of $16,500 to conduct a study of the use of cable television for rural community development in Central Appalachia.
Funds from the Appalachian Regional Commission grant are to be used to study the needs of area development districts in Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia.

The study also will focus on means of using local program origination on cable television to help solve community problems.

Lamar Marchese, media specialist with the Adult Education Center, is coordinating the study.

Too many commencement speakers have been telling graduating classes they should go out and fight the world. Better advice would be to go out and try to get along with the world.

Gov. Louie B. Nunn: Four Years of Progress

For the past four years, in every county of the Commonwealth, durable progress has touched the lives of Kentuckians and forged a lasting foundation on which the Emberton Administration now can build.

Under the Nunn Administration, state support for ELEMENTARY AND SECONDARY EDUCATION has increased 53%—average salary for classroom instructions has risen $1,512—capital outlay for classroom construction has doubled, the first increase in eight years—and 1,713 new classrooms have been built.

HIGHER EDUCATION, too, has grown under Governor Nunn, with a 34% increase in state support of Kentucky's colleges and universities in 1970 the University of Louisville was welcomed into the state system—ground has been broken for a new four-year college in the densely populated Northern Kentucky area—and the budget for VOCATIONAL EDUCATION has more than doubled.

In the largest HIGHWAY CONSTRUCTION program in Kentucky's history, 585 miles of interstate have been completed—final links in I-65, 75, and 71 have opened—638 miles of parkways have been approved, with 411 miles now open and the remainder well under construction—and a record-high allocation for RURAL ROADS — a $38 million increase over the previous administration — has improved Kentucky's vital farm-to-market roads.

In 1969 and again last year, Kentucky's gross FARM income surpassed the billion-dollar mark—and 651 INDUSTRIES have located plants or announced major expansions, creating jobs for nearly 40,000 more workers.

With the Nunn Administration's emphasis on park expansion and improvement, Kentucky now boasts the finest system of STATE PARKS in the nation—$35 million has been invested to expand lodge accommodations by 50% and to increase the number of parks and shrines to 40. As a result, travel and tourism are rapidly becoming one of Kentucky's most important industries—more than 25 million visitors in 1970—spending $542 million, the highest rate of travel spending in the history of the Commonwealth. Since 1967, state taxes collected directly from travel and tourism have increased $50 million.

After four years of progress, Kentucky today stands as a leader among the states in vital areas of human service—first in the nation in percentage of increase in teacher's salaries—first in vocational education—a leader in rehabilitation of the handicapped—and in services for mental health. Kentucky today stands poised for four more years of progress.

... AND IN MORGAN COUNTY

HIGHWAYS
Since 1968, the Department of Highways through its rural secondary program has made major improvements to 38 miles of roads in Morgan County at a cost of $24,064. This figure represents a 29% increase over the previous administration's commitment to improving farm-to-market roads.

In addition to $1,254,432 invested to blacktop 85 miles of roads in this county alone, the Nunn administration has assisted the county in meeting its obligations for its own roads by increasing county road aid 28%.

All told, a total of $1,789,326 in state funds has come to Morgan County to improve roads. A total of $50,000.00 for bridge to new High School.

EDUCATION

Morgan County schools have benefited from a $707,084 increase in funding, receiving a total of $2.7 million to underscore Governor Nunn's commitment to quality education in the Commonwealth.

Morgan County's share of funds for vocational education has increased by $37,020 and students desiring vocational training may attend either the Ashland Area Vocational School, which opened in 1968, or the Morgan County Extension Center, for which a new facility has been approved for construction.
